This online community is a lot like the church. It will never be perfect. But God is working in us and we strive to live by the grace and standards God has given us. We also invite our family and friends to share our lives by coming into our community. Not everyone here will be a disciple. We will expect everyone to conduct themselves by God's standards while they are here. And we pray they will see the amazing hearts and lives of this culturally diverse group of people God has connected around the world.

So come on in, find old friends and make new ones. Spread the news!

2,337 Lift Off New Online Social Network for Disciples

by Roger Lamb, Disciples Today — Tuesday, 19 August 2008

Editors Room >> From the DToday Editors

Have you ever wished:

- you could build relationships with disciples in other countries?
- you could make some friends with disciples in the church that you are supporting with your missions contribution?
- you could find a brother or sister in Christ who studied the Bible with you years ago?

Disciples Today has been praying for this too and God is about to bring it to a reality.

God put it on the hearts of two disciples to start building our own social network for disciples, family and friends. They started praying that we would be interested. God put us together and the outcome is www.DTSpace.net for you.

Since the site opened a month ago, 2,200 people have joined from around the globe! Read the About Us for more detail as to how the site works.

Here are some of the cool features:

- Create your own custom profile, blog, groups, forums, etc.
- Create events and invite others.
- Upload pictures, videos and music
- Use the instant messenger and video chat features
